NOTES ON NEWS OF THE DAY.

The English syndicate has fixed its eyes upon the four great breweries of Roxbury, Mass., the value of which is estimated all the way from $4,000,000 to $7,000,000.

The Governor has found opportunity for his annual whack at labor in the woman factory inspector bill. He pronounces it a good bill, but picks a clerical flaw in its construction. The reason that he does not make public is a better one. He cannot allow people to get into offices who have no votes with which to reward the favor.

SUNDAY was a "dry" day in Gloucester, the New Jersey resort of thirsty Philadelphians. Not a drop of "hard" liquor was sold, nobody was drunk, and no arrests were made, though the visitors were more numerous than ever before and all were terribly thirsty. The change is attributed to a sentence passed by Judge Garrison upon a saloon keeper named Gallagher last week. One year in the penitentiary, $500 fine, and costs amounting to $250 more, was the dose that Gallagher got, and it scared the whole fraternity.

The committee which had charge of the Assembly Chamber ceiling held an adjourned meeting in Albany yesterday. The report directed that Smith should be paid no more money on his contract, and instructed the Attorney General to proceed against Smith and his bondsmen to recover damages sustained by the state from the action of Smith and Andrews. The members of the committee present at the meeting were Speaker Cole and Messrs. Gallup, Enz, Sheehan and Weed.

MARTIN and McDonald, who were arrested in New York a few days ago for complicity in the Cronin murder and who in New York refused to extradite, were released yesterday by Judge Andrews, after three persons from Chicago had failed to identify them in a row of twenty men. Martin Burke was arrested in Winnipeg on suspicion of being one of the William Brothers whose names have figured conspicuously in the case. The unveiling of the murder mystery is provokingly slow, owing apparently to the fact that it is in the hands of men who do not wish to convict Alexander Sullivan.

The Democratic Albany county expected the Governor to approve the Vedder liquor tax bill, and are angry over his veto that the Union, owned by ex-Mayor and ex-Senator Thacher, denounces him. The finances of Albany county were adjusted by the Democratic officials on the expectation that the bill would become a law, and now there is a deficiency. Throughout the county the liquor licenses were placed at a low figure, in the belief that the Vedder law would tax them sufficiently. Albany county expected a revenue from the saloons of $118,220, and gets only $27,820. The loss to the rest of the county is reckoned at $110,000.

The weather has not yet settled down. Unfrozen and belated in Southeastern Kansas were washed out by a broken dam yesterday, and several persons were drowned. In Norwich, this state, a tornado devastated a cemetery, twisting the stoutest trees and hurling down and destroying the heaviest monuments. A flood in the Chemung and Cohocton valleys inundated Elmira, Horseheads, Corning, Big Flats, Painted Post, Canisteo and Hornellsville, and caused large damage to the Erie and Lackawanna railroads. In Florida a tornado wrought havoc over a large part of the state. In Long Branch, N. J., the Presbyterian church was struck by lightning, destroying the steeple and tearing off a part of the roof.

The Court of Appeals sustains a verdict of $25,000 damages against the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western railroad for cutting off Ethel A. Spooner's foot. In 1884 Ethel, then a child of eight years, was playing on the railroad track, and accidentally caught her foot between the rail and the planking of a crossing just as a train came along. She could not release her foot, but had the presence of mind to lean her body back out of the way. The verdict is said to be the largest ever given for a foot. If the train had cut off her head $50,000 would have been the outside limit. This law is wrong, and often excites the unjust suspicion that railroads prefer to kill rather than hurt.

Gov. HILL has done as was expected. He has cut and slashed the appropriations made by the Legislature wherever he could find an excuse, and the effect is a saving to the treasury for the year of $1,808,550.13. The most important item vetoed is the Capital Appropriation of $372,125. He also cuts $545,612.14 out of the supply bill in 79 items, $300,000 for Normal schools, $150,000 for armories, $100,000 for the compulsory education bill, $100,000 for the woman's reformatory, $63,354.27 awarded by the Board of Claims, and $40,000 for the Buffalo institution. Albany weeps over the loss of the Capital appropriation, and a dozen towns will feel disappointed because the hoped for Normal schools are lost. Plattsburgh, the home of Smith M. Weed, is the only one excepted from the general slaughter of these schools. Some of the vetoes will be approved, but a great many cut off indispensable allowances which will have to be passed again. After another election is over the Governor will be in a more pliant mood.

ONE of the bills that Gov. Hill found himself forced to approve was the one to abolish the office of State Agent for Discharged Convicts. The Governor had asked three Legislatures for the passage of this bill, and at his own request Assemblyman Sheehan rushed it through on the last day of the session. He had promised to give the office to a Cady Democrat of Albany, and thought the abolition of the office would open an easy way of escape from this pledge. But when Ed. Murphy of Troy came back from the West with fury in his eyes because Father-in-law Delahanty had not been made Superintendent of Public Buildings, and his most helpless dependent, "Chuck" De Freest, had not been provided for in the Banking Department, Hill hastened to placate him by putting Michael Conway of the Troy jail into the very office that had just been legislated out of existence by his own request. Hence the veto. Mr. Conway will proceed to draw a salary of $3,500 a year for disbursing $4,000 among the convicts. He is the only man in the state who receives $75 cents on the dollar for paying out money.

SEVERE STORMS REPORTED WEST.

Four Farmers Drowned, Railroad Bridges Swept Away and Crops Ruined.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
WICHITA, Kans., June 18.—The violent rain storm at the head waters of the Walnut River caused an immense flood of water to descend the river. About midnight on Sunday the waters came rushing into the towns, and washed away 1,500 feet of the Missouri Pacific Railway track and carried away 12 residences. Yesterday four farmers were drowned. Great damage was done to wheat in the rich bottom lands. It is estimated over 1,000,000 bushels was destroyed.

CRAWFORDVILLE, Ind., June 18.—A severe storm visited the south-eastern part of this township on Sunday night. It extended over a scope of country 10 miles long and one mile wide and ended in a cloud-burst. The damage to property is great. Growing crops in the storm's path were destroyed.

MARTON, Kans., June 18.—A heavy storm of rain and hail occurred at Marton County yesterday, doing much damage to wheat and oats.

FRESHETS NEARER BY.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

ELMHURST, N. Y., June 18.—The second Johnstown flood considerable damage to railroads in the vicinity of Elmhurst. Trains on the Erie, Delaware, Lackawanna & Western, Northern Central, Tioga & Elmira, Corning & Northern roads were delayed by washouts and landslides. Large forces of men were put at work on all roads and trains were running to-day. The Chemung River rose rapidly last night, but did not overflow. Newtown Creek, in the eastern part of the city, rose to within three inches of the high flood mark of June 1. The high water carried away an iron bridge at Johnstown. The houses of residents in the lower part of the city were surrounded by water.

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., June 18.—The water in Lycoming Creek was very high yesterday in account of recent rains, and bridges 10 and 19 on the Northern Central Railway have been taken off. The Niagara Express north yesterday was caught between the two bridges and was not able to go on or return. An extra was sent from here to transfer the passengers. The evening train did not start from here.

A Foolish Thing to Do.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

SEADALE, Mo., June 18.—Two weeks ago Dr. Edwin Small, Chief Surgeon of the Missouri Pacific & Texas Railroad, was the owner of seven valuable hunting dogs. Five of the number died last week of hydrophobia. To-day the sixth was found afflicted with the rabies and the seventh also exhibits symptoms. R. A. Blair and Dr. T. E. White, of this city, have in their possession mad stone which they claim are sure cure for mad dog bites. Small asserts that a mad stone possesses no virtues whatever, and offers $500 to any person who will submit to being bitten by the rabid dog, and run the risk of the mad stone removing the poisonous effects of the bite. The offer is open to all.

EVENTS IN STRICKEN JOHNSTOWN.

To People Taking Part in the Prohibitory Amendment Election To-Day.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., June 18.—Three members of the Fourteenth Regiment were arrested at Cambria City last night charged with insulting women. The citizens are burning with indignation.

A preliminary hearing was held at the County Jail yesterday. The prisoners reported that 20,515 people were fed by the Commissary Department yesterday.

This morning four or five bottles were blown up in the wreckage above the railroad bridge. They are all horribly decomposed and cannot, on account of the offensive odor, be identified. The blasting is still going on and the work seems to be systematic. The polls are opened at three o'clock in the afternoon for the Constitutional Prohibition Amendment election. The Prohibitionists are making a special fight, but up to 11 o'clock a light vote had been polled.

Fair weather and an increased army of workmen enabled to-day in clearing up the debris. Everybody was busy. The work is becoming smoother and more systematic. An open outbreak between the Women's Society of Pennsylvania and a similar society of Western Pennsylvania resulted this morning in a separation of the two societies. The women of the latter society, established. The guards at camp Hastings, near the Prospect Hill burial grounds, have great trouble with dogs that are constantly disturbing the dead. Over 100 dogs were shot from the camp yesterday. The last of them were killed. The hastily dug graves are shallow, and the dogs have been known to dig up the dead. The Gaudier Wire people to-day put a large force of men to work clearing up the debris. The work is being done by the day. The wages Saturday, Lieutenants Patrick and Reese, of the Regular Army, who are here, have decided to erect a bridge over Stony Creek and one over the Conemaugh just in front of the Headquarters, after which they will return to their posts of duty.

PITTSBURGH, June 18.—Professor Huch Black has completed an analysis of the Allegheny River water for the State Board of Health. His report is that it is purer than at any time for years.

STUDYING CHICAGO INSTITUTIONS.

Chinese Minister to United States on a Visit to a Western Metropolis.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
CHICAGO, June 18.—Chun Fan Moore, Secretary to Chun Foo, Chinese Minister at Washington, arrived here Sunday and left last evening for San Francisco. With him were his Secretary, C. M. Heller, and Isaac Ganz of Washington. Chun Fan Moore and the rest of Chun Foo's suite have been visiting Chicago for the purpose of studying the institutions of the United States. The Emperor intends to reorganize the police and fire systems of China, and Chun Fan Moore devoted yesterday to examining what the United States has to offer in this respect. Heller said it would not be long before steam fire-engines, patrol wagons and electric fire and police alarms would be in operation in the Flowery Kingdom.

The Man Who Brought Sparrows Here Dead.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

PHILADELPHIA, June 18.—The man who brought the first English sparrows to America died at his residence in Germantown yesterday. John W. Bardsley, familiarly known as "Sparrow Dick," was thrown to the ground from his carriage on Friday, and was taken to his home at Upsal and Main-streets, this city. Years ago the pesky insects known as the measuring worm, and familiar to every one because of its commonness, and the manner in which it crawled along as though measuring its progress by inches, became an intolerable nuisance in this city. Every effort to eradicate the swarms in the City square and on the shaded streets was fruitless. Especially was the insect bothersome in Germantown, and it was agreed that the man who could find a means of getting rid of it would be a benefactor to the city. Bardsley proved to be the man. He is in earnest now, and he will be the man to get rid of the sparrows that it ever was as to how to rid the country of the worms.

The Sunday Law in Philadelphia.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

PHILADELPHIA, June 18.—Must the Sunday morning shave go? is a question that is bubbling up again and causing an endless amount of worry to hundreds of citizens. The question is in earnest now, and it will be decided one way or the other before July 1. The Master Barbers' Association, which includes a great proportion of the proprietors of shops in the city, discussed the subject at their meeting last week, when it was decided to call a meeting of the members for the closing movement. Then it was decided to ask Mayor Filner to enforce the law of 1794, which is so sweeping against Sabbath-breaking of every sort.

What Causes the Emperor Irritation.

By Cable to The Freeman.

BERLIN, June 18.—A memorial was handed to Emperor William by General Count Von Waldersee two weeks ago setting forth the fact that Russia was in earnest now, and beseeching the Emperor to ask the Czar the meaning of these warlike preparations. The communication has caused the Emperor considerable irritation. Prince Bismarck is persuaded, however, that Russia has no hostile intentions.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

SANDY HOOK, N. J., June 18.—In the match race to-day between the yachts Katrina and Titania the Katrina started at 1:32 and the Titania at 1:35. The wind was light and the race was a close one. ### WORSE THAN NEPOTISM.

The Sun is horrified because Pension Commissioner Tanner has given his daughter a confidential position in his office and a man named Tanner who is not a relative has also a place in the Commissioner's office. It is equally displeased because acting Land Commissioner Stone has made his own son his Private Secretary. These constitute the sum total of the charges of nepotism against the administration up to date, but they are sufficient to make a Democrat howl. The generous conduct of Democrats towards their own relatives during Mr. Cleveland's term is apparently forgotten. The fashion was then established of appointing the sons and daughters of officials to be their Private Secretaries, and Cabinet Ministers Bayard, Lamar and Garland honored the practice by their examples, as did also a large number of subordinate officials and Senators and Representatives in Congress. Mr. Cleveland was very liberal in providing places for his own and the Folsom families, and several new offices and clerkships were established to provide for them. Nepotism was treated as a virtue rather than an offense under the late administration, for the people regarded the relatives of the President and his wife as respectable and honest, and hoped to get good service from them. Nepotism was not the most serious fault of the only Democratic administration in the last third of a century.

We have before us the record compiled by the Tribune last summer of Mr. Cleveland's bad appointments. The list includes five territorial judges, one of whom he declared in a letter a few days afterwards was "morally and professionally unfit," and three more whom he subsequently retired for misconduct. The list also includes two murderers, five duellists and three rioters, one of whom was made Judge of the very court that had imprisoned him for six weeks. Postmasters were appointed who had robbed the mails, pension agents who had violated the pension laws, one person got an office who had served two terms for forgery but knew Cleveland personally, and others were provided with places who had been guilty of robbery, embezzlement, theft, malfeasance, tapping a church till, grand larceny, bribery, false pretenses, keeping gambling and bawdy houses, blackmailing, assaulting women, editing a "rogue" paper, selling offices and official information, etc. Those guilty of offenses against the criminal laws numbered 137, while 22 more had been guilty of political crimes, and 59 others belonged to the criminal classes. The rebels were especially favored, three who had refused to have their political disabilities removed having been hunted up and given diplomatic positions, while the man who was a scarp man made from a Union soldier's skull and the one who hoped "to swim in blood" also got offices. But the record is tediously long. Nobody questioned Mr. Cleveland's desire to give the country a creditable administration, but he had to make his appointments from the Democratic party, and he used the best material that came to hand.

Give us nepotism in every branch of the service, rather than a reputation of such a record as this. But it is not nepotism for an official to select a number of his own family for a confidential position. The absolute necessity of employing persons for these places in whom the most implicit trust can be placed justifies such appointments and causes the people to recognize them as necessary.

NO PURCHASED VOTES NEEDED.

It is somewhat painful to read that a speech was made by a Republican member of the New Hampshire Legislature charging that $500 was offered for one vote and $1,200 for two votes for Hon. Wm. E. Chandler. But there is always this consoling thought, that his heart beat true for the Southern negro as a Republican voter.—Providence Journal.

We hope the Journal is not silly enough to believe this stuff, though it gives it editorial endorsement. If Mr. Chandler had found it necessary to pay $500 a vote for votes, he would naturally have stopped when he had secured a majority, for he is not a rich man. But in the caucus he received 125 votes, while only 52 were cast against him. Eighty-nine votes would have sufficed for him as well as 125. If he bought 36 superfluous votes he must have thrown away about $20,000, or the entire salary of the office for four years. Mr. Chandler was never taken for a fool before, and in this instance a mistake was made by that "Republican member."

POLITICS IN CONNECTICUT.

The Troy Press, which under its present management has an occasional Democratic day, is in distress over the Connecticut system of representation, which sometimes gives the control of the Legislature to the Republicans when the Democrats are able to show a majority of the popular vote. This being the case, the distress is increased by the fact that state officers are required to have a majority of the whole, or else their election must be transferred to the Legislature. It happened last fall in the vote for Governor that Bulkeley, Republican, had 73,659 votes for Governor, Morris, Democrat, 75,054, and Camp, Prohibitionist, 4,631. Hence nobody received a plurality and the election was determined by the Legislature, which chose Bulkeley. To the Democratic mind this seems unfair and unjust, but the Republicans will make no effort to change the constitution. The little advantage it gives to them they propose to retain.

Is this justifiable? A glance at the election figures will satisfy any candid mind that it is. The Democratic majorities are not gained through the votes of the citizens of the state, but through colonization from New York and the usual methods of fraud practiced by Democrats of the metropolis. The two counties most convenient to New York are Fairfield and New Haven, and in these the colonists put in their work. The total vote of Fairfield county last fall was 30,226, and it gave a Democratic majority. The population of Fairfield is 112,944, hence one vote was cast for every 3.7 members of the population. In New Haven county the vote was 41,216 and the population 156,526. This was one vote for every 3.8 members of the population. Now look at Windham county in the northeast corner of the state and the locality most remote from New York. There the vote was 7,283 and the population 48,857. One vote was cast for every 6.62 members of the population. Here the Republican majority was over 1,000. New London county, though lying on the Sound, is less convenient to New York than Fairfield and New Haven, hence we find that only one vote was cast for each five members of the population. About the same ratio prevails in Tolland, Litchfield, Hartford and Middlesex counties. The only counties in the state that gave Democratic majorities were Fairfield and New Haven. In the city of Norwalk, the most accessible point from New York, the vote was 3,658 and the population 7,560. There is no town in Connecticut where one-half the actual inhabitants are voters.

BLAINE AND BAYARD.

Points of Difference in the Two Statesmen—And Also in the Methods of Treating Them.—[From the Syracuse Standard.]

If Secretary Blaine has succeeded where Secretary Bayard failed, it is probably not because he has a better understanding of the Samoan affair or of American rights. If he has procured a prompt recognition of those rights from a quarter where they were regarded contemptuously a few months ago, that is due to his character and reputation and to the character of his political connections.

James G. Blaine is a man of great force and persistency. He has, in addition, the reputation of an extremely patriotic American—one whose American sympathies and preferences are intense. In Europe this reputation is understood. There he is also believed to be an aggressive, determined man, who without reference to the immediate naval resources of the United States, would choose war before dishonor to his country. In their dealings with Secretary Bayard, on the other hand, foreign governments evidently discovered that they were in contact with a person of weaker fiber. The reputations of the two statesmen affected differently the diplomatic fortunes of the country.

But Blaine's chief advantage was in the fact that he is a Republican, just as Bayard's misfortune sprang largely from the fact that he is a Democrat. Foreign countries respect the Republican party, and a citizen who stands for this party also commands their respect. They have a different sentiment towards the Democratic party and its representatives. Their diplomats do not understand how a party the majority of whose brainiest men engaged four years in a tremendous effort to destroy this nation, can vigorously represent its interests or its most patriotic elements. When the Democrats repudiated power, they concluded that American energy and aggressiveness were preparing for a short sleep; when that party, after four years of ascendancy, was retired, Bismarck, Salisbury and other European politicians perceived that the American people were again awake. Blaine is mighty in himself, but mightier in what he represents; Bayard was weak in himself, but weaker in that he represented the Democratic party.

HILL TO THE PRESS.

His "Brazen, Assine Impudence"—Stuff Not Worth Printing.

Governor Hill is said, by public report, to have called the executive committee of the Associated Press into his august presence, by word passed thro' the manager of his Elmira paper, and lectured the members thereof severely because his messages and memoranda of votes have not been telegraphed in full throughout the State. He is said to have threatened retaliation if this sort of thing continues.

For brazen, assine impudence this performance takes the cake. He seems to need to be told that his interest in an Elmira newspaper does not confer on him as Governor the management of the Associated Press. Also, that his messages and veto memoranda are of so little merit that no live newspaper will print them. They are so alike—in insincerity, in generalities, vituperation, warfare on public morality, demagoguery—that editors will not cumber their columns with the stuff. The Associated Press is a news gathering and publishing association. It is not a part of its purpose to circulate the stump speeches of any candidate for office, and certainly not of one whose sense of duty in the place he occupies is to abuse the press to promote his ambition for further advancement. The foolish Governor vents his wrath upon local agents of the association. For one, the Herald can assure him that more of his productions is put upon the wires than their merits justify.

The space they do not occupy in the newspapers is uniformly and wisely filled with matter worth printing.

Kingston Daily Freeman.

KINGSTON, N. Y., JUNE 18, 1889.

Weather Indications.
WASHINGTON, June 18. — Indications for Wednesday: Fair weather, followed by light rain, slightly cooler.

WORSE THAN NEPOTISM.

The Sun is horrified because Pension Commissioner Tanner has given his daughter a confidential position in his office and a man named Tanner who is not a relative has also a place in the Commissioner's office. It is equally displeased because acting Land Commissioner Stone has made his own son his Private Secretary. These constitute the sum total of the charges of nepotism against the administration up to date, but they are sufficient to make a Democrat howl. The generous conduct of Democrats towards their own relatives during Mr. Cleveland's term is apparently forgotten. The fashion was then established of appointing the sons and daughters of officials to be their Private Secretaries, and Cabinet Ministers Bayard, Lamar and Garland honored the practice by their examples, as did also a large number of subordinate officers and Senators and Representatives in Congress. Mr. Cleveland was very liberal in providing places for his own and the Folsom families, and several new offices and clerkships were established to provide for them. Nepotism was treated as a virtue rather than an offense under the late administration, for the people regarded the relatives of the President and his wife as respectable and honest, and hoped to get good service from them. Nepotism was not the most serious fault of the only Democratic administration in the last third of a century.

We have before us the record compiled by the Tribune last summer of Mr. Cleveland's bad appointments. The list includes five territorial Judges, one of whom he declared in a letter a few days afterwards was "morally and professionally unfit," and three more whom he subsequently retired for misconduct. The list also includes two murderers, five duellists and three rioters, one of whom was made Judge of the very court that had imprisoned him for six weeks. Postmasters were appointed who had robbed the mails, pension agents who had violated the pension laws; one person got an office who had served two terms for forgery but knew Cleveland personally, and others were provided with places who had been guilty of robbery, embezzlement, theft, malfeasance, tapping a church till, grand larceny, bribery, false pretenses, keeping gambling and bawdy houses, blackmailing, assaulting women, editing a rogues' paper, selling offices and official information, etc. Those guilty of offenses against the criminal laws numbered 137, while 22 more had been guilty of political crimes, and 59 others belonged to the criminal classes. The rebels were especially favored, three who had refused to have their political disabilities removed having been hunted up and given diplomatic positions, while the man who was a scamp-bird made from a Union soldier's skull and the one who hoped "Union blood would be deep enough for him to swim in" also got offices. But the record is tediously long. Nobody questioned Mr. Cleveland's desire to give the country a creditable administration, but he had to make his appointments from the Democratic party, and he used the best material that came to hand.

Give us nepotism in every branch of the service, rather than a repetition of such a record as this. But it is not nepotism for an official to select a number of his own family for a confidential position. The absolute necessity of employing persons for these places in whom the most implicit trust can be placed justifies such appointments and causes the people to recognize them as necessary.

NO PURCHASED VOTES NEEDED.

It is somewhat painful to read that a speech was made by a Republican member of the New Hampshire Legislature charging that $500 was offered for one vote and $1,200 for two votes for Hon. Wm. E. Chandler. But there is always this consoling thought, that his heart beats warmly for the Southern negro as a Republican voter.—Providence Journal.

We hope the Journal is not silly enough to believe this story, though it gives it editorial endorsement. If Mr. Chandler had found it necessary to pay $600 apiece for votes, he would naturally have stopped when he had secured a majority, for he is not a rich man. But in the caucus he received 125 votes, while only 52 were cast against him. Eighty-nine votes would have sufficed for him as well as 125. If he bought 36 superfluous votes he must have thrown away about $20,000, or the entire salary of the office for four years. Mr. Chandler was never taken for a fool before, and in this instance a mistake was made by that "Republican member."

POLITICS IN CONNECTICUT.

The Troy Press, which under its present management has an occasional Democratic day, is in distress over the Connecticut system of representation, which sometimes gives the control of the Legislature to the Republicans when the Democrats are able to show a majority of the popular vote. This being the case, the distress is increased by the fact that state officers are required to have a majority of the whole or else their election must be transferred to the Legislature. It happened last fall in the vote for Governor that Bulkeley, Republican, had 73,659 votes for Governor, Morris, Democrat, 75,054, and Camp, Prohibitionist, 4,631. Hence nobody received a plurality and the election was determined by the Legislature, which chose Bulkeley. To the Democratic mind this seems unfair and unjust, but the Republicans will make no effort to change the constitution. The little advantage it gives to them they propose to retain.

Is this justifiable? A glance at the election figures will satisfy any candid mind that it is. The Democratic majorities are not gained through the votes of the citizens of the state, but through colonization from New York and the usual methods of fraud practiced by Democrats of the metropolis. The two counties most convenient to New York are Fairfield and New Haven, and in these the colonists put in their work. The total vote of Fairfield county last fall was 30,226, and it gave a Democratic majority. The population of Fairfield is 112,044, hence one vote was cast for every 3.7 members of the population. In New Haven county the vote was 41,216 and the population 136,526. This was one vote for every 3.3 members of the population. Now look at Windham county in the northeast corner of the state and the locality most remote from New York. There the vote was 7,283 and the population 43,877. One vote was cast for every 6.02 members of the population. Here the Republican majority, though living on the Sound, is less convenient to New York than Fairfield and New Haven, hence we find that only one vote was cast for each five members of the population. About the same ratio prevails in Tolland, Litchfield, Hartford and Middlesex counties. The only counties in the state that gave Democratic majorities were Fairfield and New Haven. In the city of Norwalk, the most accessible point from New York, the vote was 3,658 and the population 7,560. There is no town in Connecticut where one-half the actual inhabitants are voters.

BLAINE AND BAYARD.

Points of Difference in the Two Statesmen—And Also in the Parties Behind Them.
[From the Syracuse Standard.]

If Secretary Blaine has succeeded where Secretary Bayard failed, it is probably not because he has a better understanding of the Soman affair or of American rights. If he has procured a prompt recognition of those rights from a quarter where they were regarded contemptuously a few months ago, that is due to his character and reputation and to the character of his political connections. James G. Blaine is a man of great force and persistence. He has, in addition, the reputation of an extremely public man. He can—no other American sympathies and preferences are intense. In Europe this reputation is understood. There he is also believed to be an aggressive, determined man, who without reference to the immediate resources of the United States, would choose war before dishonor to his country. In their dealings with Secretary Bayard, on the other hand, foreign governments evidently discovered that they were in contact with a person of weaker fiber. The reputations of the two statesmen affected differently the diplomatic fortunes of their country.

But Blaine's chief advantage was in the fact that he is a Republican, just as Bayard's was in the fact that he is a Democrat. Foreign countries respect the Republican party, and a citizen who stands for this party also commands their respect. They have a different sentiment towards the Democratic party and its representatives. Their diplomats do not understand how a party the majority of whose brainiest men engaged four years in a tremendous effort to destroy this nation, can vigorously represent its interests or its most patriotic elements. When the Democratic party came into power, they concluded that American energy and aggressiveness were preparing for a short sleep; when that party, after four years of ascendancy, was retired, Bismarck, Salisbury and other European politicians perceived that the American people were again awake. Blaine is mighty in himself, but mightier in what he represents; Bayard was weak in himself, but weaker in that he represented the Democratic party.

His "Brazen, Assine Impudence"—Stuff Not Worth Printing.
[From the Utica Herald.]

Governor Hill is said, by public report, to have called the Democratic committee of the Associated Press into his august presence, by word passed through the manager of his Elmira paper, and lectured the members thereof severely because his messages and memoranda of votes have not been telegraphed in full throughout the state. He is said to have threatened retaliation if this sort of thing continues.

For brazen, assine impudence this performance takes the cake. He seems to need to be told that his interest in Elmira newspaper does not confer on him as Governor the management of the Associated Press. Also, that his messages and veto memoranda are of so little merit that no live newspaper will print them. That he is so alike—in insincerity, in generalities, vituperation, warfare on public morality, demagoguery—that editors will not clutter their columns with the stuff. The Associated Press is a news gathering and publishing association. It is not a part of its purpose to circulate the stump speeches of any candidate for office, and certainly not of one whose sense of duty in the place he occupies is to abuse his powers to promote his ambition for further advancement. The foolish Governor vents his wrath upon local agents of the association. For one, the Herald can assure him that more of his productions is put upon the wires than their merits justify. The space they do not occupy in the newspapers is uniformly and wisely filled with matter worth printing.

DASHES HERE AND THERE THIS EIGHTH DAY OF JUNE.

State Assessors to Meet Here To-Morrow.—The Local Board of Excise to Meet Again On Monday Afternoon—More about the Weather—Firemen Going to Hudson.

Never before has it been so evident that there are too many shade trees in this City as at present. There are many children growing up under them who have no color in their faces and are troubled with rheumatism and other diseases. In localities the trees are never trimmed. The mud is seldom dried up. It breeds malaria. The dense foliage of the trees not only prevents the sunlight from entering houses but keeps fresh air away. Children should have the sunlight to be robust and healthy. The houses where flowers thrive are not those covered by shade trees. The mother who "likes" to have her children look "pale and delicate" is foolish. The light of the sun is life and health. Darkness and shade mean illness and pain.

During the meeting of the Excise Board on Monday afternoon a saloon-keeper, Peter Luefgen, on being refused a hotel license, threw $75 on Commissioner Mayer's desk and left the room. Mayer called to Luefgen to come back and get his money, stating the Board would not be responsible for it. The saloon-keeper did not return. John J. Conney, who said that he "did not like to see so much money lying around loose," pocketed the bills. Later on he gave the money to Luefgen. The Board will meet again on Monday afternoon.

The surviving members of the One Hundred and Twentieth Regiment are looking forward with anticipation to the time when they shall revisit the ground of Gettysburg, and dedicate the monument which will tell of the prowess of the sons of Ulster in one of the greatest and hardest fought battles in the world's history. The start will be made from this City on Monday morning, June 24. The monument will be dedicated on Tuesday and the return trip will be made on Wednesday.

William J. Woods, of Hunter-street, has stuffed a large male peacock for Colonel John McEntee. It is in the month of June that the plumage of the peacock is at its best, and this is a particularly fine specimen. It was presented to Colonel McEntee by a friend, and as the Colonel admired the bird on account of its plumage than its song, it was humanely chloroformed and given over to the taxidermist.

On a lawn in this City last evening a circle about four feet in diameter seemed to have been sealed in the grass. On closer inspection it was found covered with a yellowish fungus, which turned bluish-black when the sun came out to-day. The phenomenon has been observed several times, and is called a "fairy circle."

The law recently enacted by the State Legislature in reference to dealers selling cigarettes to boys under 16 years of age seemingly does not make any provision for boys, whose ages range from six to 14 years, can be seen puffing their life's blood away on streets here every day.

Timely advice these days: "Splash the cellar walls good and thick with whitewash, and scatter a few lumps of lime over the cellar floor. Thus may a prudent householder neutralize the noxious quality of dampness and preserve the health of his family."

A growing custom in this City is that of young girls having their own horses and village carts. A village cart, though not the pleasantest vehicle to ride in, can be managed much easier than a wagon, because it can be turned around in a small space.

An Esopus farmer, who was in town to-day, when asked if the late heavy rains would benefit or damage crops, said that the ground is thoroughly soaked with water, and the prospective hot rays of the sun may cause a partial rot of potatoes.

A meeting of the State Assessors will be held at the Court House to-morrow. The method of assessing property by local Assessors will be examined. A committee of the Common Council will be present to look after the interests of the City.

A stranger on Union-avenue this forenoon inquired of a man he met: "I say, my friend, can you tell me where I can find a saloon on this thoroughfare? There are scores of drinking places, but they all have 'hotel' on the signs."

Golden Rod is to be the National flower of the United States. Golden Rod was suggested by Henry A. Stone, of this City, at the National Convention of Florists held in New York City last year.

The recent action of the Common Council ordering the use of wide tires on wagons carrying heavy loads of goods has been favorably commented upon by citizens who desire good streets.

Invitations have been issued for a musical entertainment to be given by Miss Clara Norton at her home on Clinton-avenue this evening. A programme of 21 selections will be rendered.

To-morrow evening the Y. P. S. C. E., of the Baptist Church, Poughkeepsie, will visit the Christian Endeavor Society of the Wurts-Street Baptist Church here.

The barges Harvest Home and Merchant have been secured for the excursion of the Young Men's Catholic Literary Association on the Fourth of July.

It is estimated that more umbrellas have been purchased in this City during the past month than in a corresponding period for many years past.

When THE FREEMAN went to press a game of base ball was in progress on the Union-avenue grounds between the Kingstons and the Norwalks.

The best workers employed by Kingston Lowland farmers are women. A number of women can be seen every day hard at work.

June so far has been as fickle as April. Great care has been necessary in the matter of dress for children and aged people.

Patrick Mooney, for over four years Deputy Postmaster in the Rondout Post Office, has retired from that position.

Limits of trees that interfered with wires of the Hudson River Telephone Company on Union-avenue were cut off to-day.

Yesterday was the anniversary of the Battle of Bunker Hill, and to-day is the anniversary of the Battle of Waterloo.

Certain people living on several hillsides here throw slops in the gutters of streets. This is a reprehensible practice.

This evening a festival and reception will be held in the rooms of the Cremonese Literary Association.

Werner Hoes Company, of this City, will go to Hudson on July 4 and take part in the parade there.

The Assessors of this City will hold a meeting this evening to review the assessment roll.

Some folks are "always a lawin' it." In this City there lives a man who has been sued 32 times.

The case of Crosby vs. Wood Brothers, before Justice Westbrook, has been withdrawn.

There is an organization here styled the "Sons of Rest." John Grimes is President.

Many new monuments have been erected in Montpelier and Wiltwyck cemeteries.

It is pointed out that Commencement time now general in schools and colleges throughout the country, fixes a pleasant landmark in the lives of thousands of young people. One may be inclined sometimes to sneer at the readiness with which budding orators attack the most abstruse questions, and sigh to think how soon the rosy dreams in which they indulge will vanish in the light of reality, and yet in the very hopefulness and self-reliance of youth there lies a power which if subjected to right discipline will have an influence for good.

The Regents of this State say that Ulster Academy, Rondout, now ranks as one of the leading academies of the State.

STORIES ABOUT HORSES TOLD HERE.

A Sagacious Nag and Its Ways—How a Butcher was Cured of Kicking.

"Butcher" is the name that has been given a gray horse that has been used by the horse railroad company here for 10 years. Drivers say it is a sagacious animal. On what are known as the 20 minute trips in the morning, when the switches at the Army and on St. James-street are passed over without "meeting a car," "Butcher," without a signal from the driver, does not slacken its pace. Later on, after the 10 minute trips are made, it is not long before that horse could not be made to kick if a cannon was set off right near its heels.

The Meteorological Record.

It is stated that the spring of 1889—and the summer is in a fair way to follow suit—will go down in local weather annals as having broken all records since the Signal Office was established, so far as the amount of rainfall is concerned. During the month of April more than as much rain fell as in any other April since the Service was established. The record for the last three months exceeds that of the same period of last year by 13.15 inches.

Weather Prophet Devoe makes the following guesses for the remainder of this week:

Wednesday, 19—Fair, cool weather.
Thursday, 20—Clear and cold.
Friday, 21—Cool and pleasant.
Saturday, 22—Rising temperature, pleasant weather.

"Indications" promises "fair, followed by light rain and slightly cooler weather" hereabout on Wednesday.

The Death Record.

The body of Mrs. Margaret Shevlin, who died in Brooklyn on Saturday, aged 90 years, was taken to Hunter to-day for burial. The deceased was for many years a resident of this City.

The funeral services of the Rev. Peter C. Oakley were held in the M. E. Church in Milton to-day. The church was crowded.

The third degree will be conferred in Kingston Lodge, No. 10, F. & A. M., this evening.

IN THREE COURTS HERE.

CIVIL AND CRIMINAL MATTERS HEARD THIS DAY.

That Note Case Continued in the June Circuit—Prisoners Placed at the Bar in the Oyer and Terminer—Business Before Surrogate O. P. Carpenter.

The case of Bruyn vs. Russell was continued in Circuit Court here to-day. Further expert testimony in relation to the signature in dispute was given by defense. A number of witnesses testified that the signature to the note was not the handwriting of Jacob De Witt. John T. DeWitt, a cousin of the plaintiff, testified that the note and the letter claimed by plaintiff to have been written by Jacob DeWitt, were in the handwriting of Mrs. Bruyn, the plaintiff. During the testimony of experts, the jurors were allowed to use photographic copies for the purpose of comparison. This forenoon the defense rested. The plaintiff called as a witness Gilbert Russell, who testified to a conversation he had in the latter part of 1883 with Jacob DeWitt, "about getting married." Witness told DeWitt that Mrs. Snyder would make a good match for him. DeWitt said he had been thinking about getting married, but that is not the one I want. I want Elizabeth. I wanted her before she married Benjamin. DeWitt also said that he would make provision for his sister Elsie and her children if he married Elizabeth, which he expected to do. DeWitt added: "I expect to make arrangements about the property so there will be no trouble." Mrs. Bruyn was put upon the stand and was questioned in regard to the note, etc. Her testimony was not allowed on the ground that it involved a personal transaction or communication with the deceased, and was inadmissible under section 89 of the Code. These witnesses were called in rebuttal by the plaintiff: Hiram N. Frost, B. J. Winne, George R. Bruyn.

The following cases were argued as a "Day Calendar": No. 55, McPherson vs. DeWitt; No. 112, Cullen vs. Norton; No. 166, Carnwright vs. Gray; No. 11, Kleber vs. Risely. On Monday afternoon the case of Abel A. Crosby et al. vs. the Delaware and Hudson Canal Company, taken up by counsel for the defense and disposed of. The question was the ownership of a quantity of lumber. At a former trial the plaintiff recovered a judgment. The General Term reversed the judgment. Judge Edwards dismissed the complaint.

COURT OF OYER AND TERMINER.

In this court this afternoon Prisoners Keam, Coniglia, Robinson and Maxon were placed at the bar. Coniglia withdrew his plea of not guilty and pleaded guilty to grand larceny in the second degree. He was sentenced to be confined in Clinton State Prison for three years and six months. He was indicted for stealing clothing of a peddler at Rosendale. The other cases were sent over to the Court of Sessions.

IN SURROGATE'S COURT.

In the Ulster Surrogate's Court will be heard the matter of the estate of William W. Plattekill, deceased. The estate has been proved and admitted to probate. Date of will July 17, 1889. The Executor is directed to place $2,000 in a savings bank or on mortgage and pay the interest to the daughter of Testator, Maria Emily Hall, wife of John J. Hall, town of Plattekill. At her death she left $2,000 to be paid to her two children. Citation to show cause why Hallock W. Sutton should not be appointed Administrator in the estate of Elmina Meeker issued, returnable July 1. Godfried Wolvenap appointed Guardian of the person and estate of Nathaniel A. Wolven, of Plattekill.

COMING COUNTY COURT.

The term of the County Court and Court of Sessions will be convened Monday afternoon. There are 29 cases on the civil calendar. They are given in their order as follows: Issues of fact—Michael J. ## THE RECORD OF CITY AMUSEMENTS.

The Entertainment Last Night in Aid of the "City Mission," and Other Notes.

The entertainment in aid of the "City Mission" given at the City Hall last night was largely attended. "The Minnie Harris gave instrumental duets in their customary artistic manner. The Misses E. K. Powley, M. Shaffer and Ella Stryker read. Miss Powley has a good presence and a sweet, low, well cultivated voice. Her recitation and enunciation were noticeable for their correctness. Miss Stryker's rendition of Jean Ingelow's "High Tide on the Coast of Lincolnshire" was excellent. The Rondout Quartette Club, under the direction of Professor Karl, sang three numbers, and were generously applauded. Mrs. Doremus, Miss Stephan, John G. Van Etten and Lawrence Van Etten sang several times, all being warmly received. Walter Kelland gave two cornet solos. He was encored. There were several other voices. Miss Elizabeth Powley was prevented from being present, and rendering several solos by illness. Mrs. Doremus, who had charge of the entertainment, acceptably sang the numbers allotted to Miss Powley.

A festival will be held in the chapel of the First Reformed Church, under the auspices of the Heidelberg Sewing Society, on Friday evening. Dates of other entertainments announced are: Weber Hose Company, picnic, Burmann's Elysium, to-morrow; Monday, June 23, Peter's Relief and Aid Society, Kingston, New York Elysium.

The members of the Minnewaske Haymakers will give an entertainment in the Academy of Music on Friday evening. An attractive programme has been arranged for the occasion.

Bicycles on Sidewalks.

The following communication has been received at this office:

EDITOR FREEMAN—I noticed an item in THE FREEMAN of last evening to the effect that bicyclists were using the sidewalks for the purpose of becoming a nuisance. Now I know you do not wish to do an injustice to bicyclists, and I am sure you will publish this in order to set the rights in the eyes of the public. It is true that some people do use the sidewalks to the annoyance of pedestrians, but they are boys and ladies who use the bicycle and consequently are obliged to use the sidewalks. It is not the fault of the bicycle, but of the rider. The majority of wheelmen in this City are young men who ride bicycles and seldom ever use the sidewalks for that purpose. If your item had read "tricyclists" instead of "bicyclists" there would have been no cause for this correction.

It is true economy to buy Hood's Sarsaparilla. For "100 Doses One Dollar," is original with and true only of this popular medicine. If you wish to prove it, buy a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla and examine its contents. You will find it to hold 100 teaspoonfuls.
